

CBI obtains ISO 9001: 2015 certificates

The Central Bank of Iraq (CBI) awarded the ISO 9001: 2015 certificates in the Quality Management System in monetary management by the British LMS Certification Limited. This certificate is awarded to institutions that implement international standards and systems for Quality Management System and institutional development especially it is awarded every three years. As well as that the Central Bank of Iraq is the first official institution in Iraq obtains this certificate. The ISO 9001 standard is the most widely used in the world for quality management systems. This standard also helps institutions to meet customers' demands and monitor the quality of their products, management of operations in the organization and the development of the performance mechanism in various fields. This certificate considered the most recognized certification of Quality Management in the world and it is adopted by more than one million institutions in 170 countries around the world that sets Quality Management standards.